Decade Anniversary Sale

Vancouver, B.C. – While early in my diving experience, lacking any really good maps to show dive locations, Scuba Guide Mapping was formed to counter this in early 1994. Our first publication was Whytecliff Marine Park –Dive Site Map. Efforts have continued (although sporadic) to produce diver maps, and other things, this past decade. To commemorate this minor milestone we celebrate with our first sale for any products ordered prior to July 1 2005, shop on-line at www.aquatic-realm.com or request an order form (look for links on-line to download forms or call for more information). Please note we have relocated to downtown Vancouver, B.C., kindly update address and phone numbers.

Maps include Artificial Reefs, many retired Canadian Navy Destroyer escorts, have been re-animated electronically using 3D modeling techniques. These models are enhanced to realistically capture the texture and surface of these vessels as they rest on the sea floor. Vessel's are oriented to accurately represent it is true position on the sea floor, rendered to capture the ships present essence.

Alternatively geographical map representations utilize a multitude of spot depths to generate detailed contours of the seabed. Significant highlights for divers are featured in an effort to depict the rugged beauty that abounds in the waters off the British Columbia Coast in Canada.

Publications include: HMCS Saskatchewan (near Nanaimo, BC), Gabriola Passage (near Nanaimo, BC), HMCS Mackenzie (near Victoria, BC) and Whytecliff Park (in West Vancouver, BC) plus a graphical Slate Series featuring portable sized waterproof line prints of many local wrecks and other customized pages. All are popular dive sites in British Columbia. Gross Sales top 2000 copies sold for the 4 full-sized color maps and 1200 slates, including numerous slate pages and many customized packages.
